COLORED KNIGHTS.

Close of the Grand Lodge Meeting in Columbus.

Columbus, June 24.—The session of the grand lodge, colored, K. of P., yesterday was devoted principally to routine business and hearing reports. The First regiment, state of Ohio, was formed, and the following officers elected:

Colonel, Capt. Robert H. Rudd, Starr division, No. 4, Springfield; lieutenant colonel, Capt. R. B. Kerns, Eureka, No. 6, Portsmouth; major, Capt. John Adams, Enterprise, No. 8, Columbus.

A big parade was given in the afternoon, forming on Broad street, right resting on Third.

Arrested—the progress of Consumption. In all it's earlier stages, it can be cured. It's a scrofulous affection of the lungs—a blood taint—and, as in every other form of scrofula, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a certain remedy. But it must be taken in time—and now is the time to take it.

It purifies the blood—that's the secret. Nothing else acts like it. It's the most potent strength-restorer, blood-cleanser, and flesh-builder known to medical science. For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, and all lingering Coughs, it's a remedy that's guaranteed, in every case, to benefit or cure.

If it doesn't, the money is returned.
In other words, it's sold on trial.
No other medicine of its kind is.
And that proves that nothing else is "just as good" as the "Discovery."
The dealer is thinking of his profit, not of yours, when he urges something else.
Judge for yourself which is likely to be the better medicine.

The temperature has changed but little over the entire country during the past 24 hours.

Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, for Vice President.

A Strong Ticket at Both Top and Bottom.

Gen. Collins Moves to Bar Out the Spectators.

The Gallery Has Been Cutting Too Much of a Figure in the Deliberations of a Political Party — General Mention.

Chicago, June 24.—(Special.)—When it became apparent Thursday afternoon that A. E. Stevenson was in the lead for the vice presidency the states went over to him in squads and a motion to make the nomination unanimous was carried amid confusion and enthusiasm equally as great as that which marked the nomination of Cleveland on the day previous.

The vote on the original call was as follows:

Mitchell received 2 votes from Kentucky, 5 from Nebraska, 4 from Ohio, 2 from South Dakota, 24 from Wisconsin, 6 from Wyoming, 1 from Alaska and 1 from the Dstrict of Columbia. Total, 45.

Watterson received 26 votes from Iowa.
Cochran received 5 from Montana.
Boies received 1 from Tennessee.

Mr. J. H. Shields, of Iowa—At the request of Col. Watterson, of Kentucky, Iowa withdrew her 26 votes and gave them to Stevenson of Illinois. (Cries of "Good, good," and loud applause.) Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Ohio and Oregon each in turn changed to Stevenson. When the chairman of the Missouri delegation obtained the floor the wildest excitement ensued as he changed the 34 votes of the state for Stevenson. Georgia changing her 26 votes to Stevenson caused a fresh howl of excitement from the convention, which at this moment was scarcely better than a mob. Tennessee hastily followed in the wake of the other states, and cast her 24 votes solid for Stevenson. Kentucky asked if her votes had been recorded for Stevenson, and upon the chairman of the convention answering in the negative, that delegation recorded her 26 votes for the favorite son of Illinois. Texas came to the front immediately after with 30 votes solid for Stevenson.

Confusion became so great for a time that the chair refused to listen or to recognize any of the delegates.

At this point a tall man with a very black beard shouted louder than all the rest and attracted the attention of the chairman.

The chairman—What is the name of the gentleman?

The speaker said his name was "Cole of Ohio."

Mr. Cole, of Ohio—I move that the rules be suspended, and that Gen. Adlai E. Stevenson be nominated by acclamation.

Loud applause greeted this motion, and the delegates all over the hall seemed impatient that the question be put. In the midst of the excitement Mr. Hensel, of Pennsylvania, who was standing on the platform in front of the presiding officer, seconded the motion.

The chairman—The Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, having already received more than two-thirds of the vote of this convention, it is moved by Mr. Cole, of Ohio, and seconded by Mr. Hensel, of Pennsylvania, that the rules be suspended and he be declared by acclamation the nominee of this convention for vice president. All in favor of that motion will say aye.

A great chorus of ayes greeted this invitation of the chair and the chair at once declared the motion unanimously adopted.

Everybody seemed satisfied with the ballot. Somebody scattered a lot of the new Grover Cleveland "Wang" songs and the Stevenson banner was raised by the Illinois delgation. Delegates all over the floor were on top of their chairs. The band started the Grover Cleveland campaign song; but it was stopped by the clerk, who read the following resolutions offered by Brice, of Ohio:

Resolved, That the national committee are hereby empowered and directed to fix the time of holding the next national convention, and that the basis of representation therein be the same as that fixed for this convention.

This was carried with a shout in the midst of a good deal of confusion. The following resolution was offered by Norman E. Mack, of New York:

Resolved, That the name of the Hon. W. L. Wilson, permanent chairman of this convention, be added to the committee appointed by the several states to notify the nominees of this convention of their selection as candidates for the offices of president and vice president of th United States.

Gen. Patrick Collins, of Massachusetts, who had meanwhile taken the chair, put the resolution, prefacing it as follows:

"On account of the modesty of the permanent chairman, I have been requested to put this motion. All in favor of it will say aye; those opposed to it, no. The ayes have it."

The clerk then read the following resolution offered by W. Honey, of New York:

Resolved, That the national committee is authorized and empowered in its discretion to select as its chairman and also as the chairman of its executive committee persons who are not members of the said national committee. It was carried unanimously.

The usual resolution of thanks were offered and adopted.

Gen. Patrick Collins took the floor and moved that democratic national coventions provide accommodations for only the delegates, alternates, the press, the national committee and no others.

This was demanded in view of the gallery interruptions that are possible, and have been demonstrated. The resolution was before the house when one of the electric arc lamps fell among the delegates, and a stampede was imminent for a brief time. No harm, however, was done. The Collins resolution after the confusion subsided, was referred to the executive committee of the new national committee with affirmative recommendation. At 5:20 the convention adjourned sine die.

EX-GOV. GRAY.

He is Better Satisfied Than if He Had Been Nominated.

Indianapolis, June 24.—Ex-Gov. Gray said after he heard the news: "I was not a candidate for vice-president and did not desire the nomination. At a meeting of a number of my friends on the delegation last Thursday I informed them that I did not want them to put me forward for the vice-presidency, nor to make any arrangements to bring about my nomination.

"Last Sunday a messenger from Chicago came to see me and stated that the Cleveland managers had proposed to give me the nomination for vice-president if I would advise my friends on the delegation to vote for Cleveland. I peremptorily declined the proposition.

"The office of vice-president has been filled by the greatest man that the nation has produced, and is worthy the ambition of her most eminent citizens; for certain reasons I did not desire the nomination. My friends pursued the course which they undoubtedly thought best, and I deeply appreciate their friendship, and will ever remember their devotion; but I am infinitely better satisfied than I would have been if they had succeeded in nominating me."

ADLAI E. STEVENSON.

Brief Sketch of the Man Who Will Hustle for Illinois' Vote.

Chicago, June 24.—Adlai E. Stevenson, of Bloomington, Ill., the democratic candidate for vice-president of the United States, was born in Christian county, Kentucky, 1835, and educated in the common schools of Kentucky and at Center College, Danville, Ky.

He removed with his parents to Bloomington, Ill., in 1852 and began the study of law at Bloomington in 1857, being admitted to the bar in 1858. He located at Matamore, Woodford county, Illinois, and immediately began the practice of law, remaining in that city for 10 years. He was appointed to the office of master in chancery by the circuit judge and after holding that position for four years was elected to district attorney, an office which he has also held for four years.

At the expiration of his term of office as district attorney he returned to Bloomington, Ill., and entered a law partnership with James S. Ewing in January, 1868, which partnership still exists, the firm of Stevenson & Ewing being one of the leading law firms of central Illinois, and one of repute in state and federal courts for over 20 years.

In 1864 Mr. Stevenson canvassed the state of Illinois as a candidate for presidential elector on the democratic ticket. In 1874 he was nominated by the democratic party for congress in the Bloomington, Ill., district. The district was 3,000 republican, but after a very exciting canvass Stevenson defeated his opponent, John C. McNulta, for re-election, by over 1,200 majority.

He was in congress during the Hayes and Tilden electoral contest and was one of the earnest advocates of a peaceful settlement of the differences in the presidential controversy.

He was nominated for re-election to congress in 1876, the district at the time giving a republican majority of less than 200. He at once resumed the practice of law, but was once more re-nominated for congress in 1878, this time defeating his opponent, Congressman Tipston, and being elected by over 2,600 majority.

After the expiration of that term of office Gen. Stevenson resumed the practice of law and was a delegate to the democratic convention of 1884, which nominated Grover Cleveland for president. After the latter's election Stevenson was appointed first assistant postmaster general and he was, probably, the favorite of the Cleveland administration at Washington.

As assistant postmaster general, he was out spoken in his belief that it was a democratic duty to remove republican postmasters wherever possible and appoint reputable and efficient democrats in their stead. The celerity which Gen. Stevenson displayed in removing republican postmasters and appointing democrats made him very popular in the democratic party.

Gen. Stevenson was a delegate-at-large from the state of Illinois to the convention which nominated him for the vice presidency. He was unanimously elected chairman of the Illinois delegation, and when his name entered in the vice presidential contest he delicately retired to the gallery.

The headquarters of Gen. A. E. Stevenson at the Palmer house was the Mecca of thousands of enthusiastic democrats last night and the general was forced to repair to one of the public parlors where for three hours he shook hands with a stream of visitors that passed rapidly through and were presented to him by Congressman Springer and others.

During this reception, most of the Tammany delegates called to pay their respects to Mr. Stevenson and all of them gave words of cheer.

"We will have 10,000 majority for the ticket in the state of New York," said ex-Representative Turner of New York city, as he congratulated Gen. Stevenson. It is estimated that fully 10,000 people grasped the hand of the democratic candidate for the vice presidency, and at the conlusion of the levee Gen. Stevenson repaired to his room very much fatigued.

WILL BE NO SULKING.

Hill's Albany Organ Puts All Doubts to Flight.

Albany, N. Y., June 24.—The Times-Union, a strong Hill paper, says: "I pledge the electoral vote of the state of New York to the nominees of the national democratic convention," said D. B. Hill in one of his many stirring speeches to the democrats of other states. There will be no sulking over the result at Chicago among the men who have stood by the senator from New York with such loyalty and determination.

Columbia, S. C., June 24.—The Daily Register, which has led the fight against Mr. Cleveland, says:

"From the instant that Mr. Cleveland was declared its nominee by the chairman of our national democratic convention, he ceased to be a private citizen and became the representative and embodiment of the success of the principles of democracy; so it is our duty as democrats to bury in the grave of oblivion all past differences, and with a unanimity of purpose and in unbroken ranks bear onward and to victory the banner of our party. The man who seeks to revive old differences or attempts to create a breach in the democratic ranks of this or any other state is a traitor to his party and an enemy to his people."

Atlanta, Ga., June 24.—The Journal says: The triumphant nomination of Grover Cleveland on the first ballot in the Chicago convention is a signal victory of the people over the managing and intriguing politicians.

What It Signalizes.

Richmond, Va., June 23.—The State says: "Cleveland's nomination signalizes one of the greatest popular victories in the history of the union, for it demonstrates that bluff, open honesty and a square stand up to pledges made is what the democracy of the United States approves best."

NEW YORK IS IN LINE.

The Hill Men Will Work Hard for Democratic Success.

Chicago, June 24.—Gov. Flower of New York said that he had no criticism to make upon the work of the convention. "We have put our case as strongly as we could before the court of final resort of the democracy of the republic. We can only bow to its conclusion, and do all the work we can to elect the candidate. The condition of New York politically is rather a curious one. We have a very difficult fight to make, and we certainly would have preferred to make it with some candidate who would not have aroused opposition in our state. The judgment of our party, however, we accept fully and finally and we will do all for Mr. Cleveland that we would have done for Hill or Gorman or Gray. We feel that we are handicapped, but we of New York may be depended upon to do the best we can, even under the most adverse circumstances. It is my judgment that with hard work we can, perhaps, carry the state. I do not like to make any promise; but if the state can be carried for Cleveland by loyal and faithful work, then nobody more than ourselves will be glad to know that our fears are groundless."

Bourke Cockran, of New York, said: "In my speech last night I gave the reasons why I believed that Grover Cleveland was not the most fortunate candidate that we could name. My advice was not taken, and now I must take the choice of the convention. The convention advises Cleveland, and for Cleveland all of our work will be done. The New York democracy will not sulk. It will do the best it can. If we go into this fight without very much hope, it is because we know New York better than the people of Texas or Illinois; but we are democrats and as democrats we propose to make the hottest campaign that has been known in that state for a long time."

Richard Croker, of New York, occupied a seat beside Gov. Flower in the convention. He was even more taciturn than usual and all he would say in reply to the question put to him was: "We people in New York thought we knew how the democracy would carry the state. The democracy has not agreed with us. We will try to obey the command given to us last night, I hope for the best. Had almost any other candidate been nominated I would have been sure of the best. That is all I have to say."

SENATOR BRICE.

He is Made Temporary Chairman of the New Committee.

Chicago, June 24.—The democratic national committee met yesterday afternoon and closed the business connected with the holding of the national convention in Chicago and adjourned to meet in New York with the notification committee when it assembles there to officially inform Mr. Cleveland of the action of the convention. This date will be fixed to suit Mr. Cleveland's wishes.

The retiring members of the national committe gave way to their successors. Chairman Brice, Secretary Sherin, and Treasurer Canda, of the old committee, were re-elected to the same offices of the temporary organization of the new committee pending permanent organization.

Resolutions of sympathy for the family of Bradwater, of Montana, and Barbour, of Virginia, who died while members of the national committee, were passed and also some resolutions of thanks to various persons.

The notification committee is composed of the following members reported from the various states:

Alabama, Rufus N. Rhodes; Arkansas, B. R. Davidson; California, passed; Colorado, Frank Adams; Connecticut, passed; Florida, W. D. Chipley; Idaho, R. Z. Johnson; Illinois, Thos. A. Thorton; Indiana, William A. Callop; Iowa, Col. L. M. Martin; Kansas, James W. Orr; Kentucky, John P. Salzer; Louisiana, A. W. Crandall; Maine, Edward C. Sweet; Maryland, Hon. L. Victor Bangham; Massachusetts, Patrick McGuire; Michigan, Richard A. Montgomery; Minnesota, Chas. M. Foote; Mississippi, W. V. Sullivan; Montana, S. T. Hauser; Nebraska, John A. Crayton; New Hampshire, Henry R. Barker; New York, Norman E. Mack; North Carolina, Hon. Kope Elias; North Dakota, Andrew Blewitt; Ohio, R. R. Holden; Oregon, Senator Henry Blackman; Pennsylvania, J. Henry Cochran; Rhode Island, Fayette E. Bartlett; South Carolina, T. D. Jervey; Tennessee, W. A. Collier; Texas, Hon. J. H. O'Leary; Vermont, Oscar C. Miller; Washington, John Collins; Wisconsin, James Barton; Wyoming, R. H. Homer; Arizona, E. E. Ellinwood; Alaska, James Sheakley; District of Columbia, Henry E. Davis; New Mexico, E. U. Long; Utah, Henry P. Henderson.

THE SILVER MEN.

They Meet and Issue a Manifesto to the People.

Chicago, June 24.—The Colorado delegation is not satisfied with the treatment accorded the silver states by the democratic convention and last night T. M. Patterson, Henry Paul, T. J. O'Donnell, M. D. Currigan, D. C. Donovan, and William Bayley united in issuing a manifesto in which they set forth that the nomination of Cleveland and the palpably evasive declarations on the silver question confront Colorado democrats with a serious problem.

Both Cleveland and Harrison are declared to be enemies to the cause so dear to Colorado hearts, and the momentous question now is "can the republican and democratic voters of Colorado, with a full sense of their obligations to self, home, state and party, aid either of the nominees to the presidency?"

They recommend that the party be called together in a delegate convention that the matter may be properly passed upon and decisive action taken.

FROM OHIO'S CAPITAL.

Commissions Issued by the Adjutant General.

Columbus, June 24.—The following commissions were issued by Adjutant General Pocock: L. R. Davis, captain Company A, Fifth infantry, Cleveland; George M. Wright, second lieutenant Battery F, Akron; T. H Wolverton, second lieutenant Company C, Seventeenth regiment, Mt. Vernon; H. E. Chapin, captain Company B, Seventeenth infantry, Athens; E. G. Welch, first lieutenant Company B, Seventeenth infantry, Athens; W. A. Westervelt, second lieutenant Company B, Seventeenth infantry, Athens. E. O. West, of Lancaster, resigned as second lieutenant Company I, Fourteenth infantry.

A motion for leave to file petition in error in the case of Marion Britton vs. State of Ohio, was filed and argued in supreme court. The claim of Britton's attorney is that the finding of facts that the court made was not sufficient for murder in the second degree, but simply manslaughter. Britton is a prisoner in the Ohio penitentiary, serving a life sentence for killing his brother-in-law, John Brown. By change of venue he was tried and found guilty in Ross county.

Mrs. J. W. Dumble, of Middleport, has been appointed by Govenor McKinley as lady visitor of the Girls' Industrial Home at Delaware in place of Mrs. Sarah C. Howells, Butler county, resigned. The appointee is the wife of the editor of the Meigs County Republican.

PALACIO IN EXILE.

The Ex-Dictator on His Way to Europe.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, June 24.—Dr. Anduza Palacio, ex-dictator of Venezuela, and now an exile from his native land, arrived at Martinique yesterday on his way to Europe.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS

Opinions from Well Known Editors

On the Action of the Chicago Convention.

They Differ According to Their Politics, but all Admit That the Ticket is Very Strong.

Chicago, June 24.—The Herald this morning says: "In nominating Grover Cleveland for the presidency in spite of the fact that he was not the choice of his own state, and in the face of the further fact that every delegate from his state proclaimed his weakness as a candidate, the national democratic convention has assumed a grave responsibility.

"A responsibility which no national convention of any party ever before accepted, but it is a responsibility for which the democratic party outside of New York state is alone accountable and for which it alone will be judged.

"There is at least abundant reason to hope that the party's councellors, the Herald among them, who have been unable to look upon the situation in New York as favorable to the nomination of either of the candidates presented by the people of that state, have been mistaken and that the result in November will prove the fact."

Chicago Tribune.

Chicago, June 24.—The Tribune says: "Having adopted an ultra free trade plank, the nomination of Mr. Cleveland was a necessary sequence. Yet the democrats have tempted fortune by selecting as their nominee a man who has twice asked for the suffrages of the people and has been elected once. The contest between him and President Harrison will be a comparison of administrations. Each has made his record in the White House. What is there in that of Mr. Cleveland which should induce any republican to give him the preference over his competitor? Cleveland may get the free trade mugwumps, but he can win over no protection republicans."

Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 24.—The Sentinel says: "Cleveland is the strongest man that the party could nominate and he will strengthen the local tickets in every doubtful state."

The Journal says: "The ticket is weak, both in New York and Indiana. Harrison's victory will be sweeping."

San Francisco.

San Francisco, June 24.—The Examiner, democrat, says: "The national convention in making Cleveland the nominee acted in response to a demand so widespread, so enthusiastic and so insistent it could not be resisted."

Chronicle, rep.: "Cleveland has not as much strength now as four years ago, when Harrison beat him in New York by 13,000 votes. If he cannot carry New York he is defeated, and the prospect is that he will not get as many votes in New York as before, for what Hill's friends say about the New York vote must be taken as the testimony of experts."

Detroit.

Detroit, June 24.—The Tribune, rep., says: "This paper sees in the nomination of Cleveland and Stevenson the election of Harrison and Reid."

Free Press says: "Mr. Cleveland's nomination defines the great difference between the two parties more clearly and strongly than could any platform, no matter how vigorous and concise. Cleveland and Stevenson. It is a ticket that will win."

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—The Sentinel, rep., says: "Whitney's work was masterly, as well as masterful, and it is to him Mr. Cleveland owes gratitude for the failure of those who were opposed to his nomination. The head of the ticket and the platform go well together, although the platform may have been a good deal clearer by Mr. Watterson's exertions than Mr. Cleveland likes to have it."

The Journal, dem., says: "Now that the fight is over, very few democrats will be found who are not heartily in touch with the nominating majority. Cleveland's defeat of four years ago will lend more lustre to his victory in 1892."

Henry Watterson.

Louisville, Ky., June 24.—Henry Watterson's paper says regarding the Chicago nominations:

"The Courier-Journal accepts the result with no feeling of dissatisfaction or disappointment; on the contrary it finds us fully prepared to support it sincerely and heartily.

"With the utmost freedom and frankness we have from the standpoint of political strategy stated the objection to this nomination. We desired to have the party hear and consider the objections that it might not act unadvisedly or hastily, or proceed in this important work in a spirit of anger or irritation.

"We have urged the consideration of harmony, unity and forbearance, and we believe this labor has not been in vain."

New York Sun.

New York, June 24.—The Sun this morning says: "There is no question depending on the election of the next president which in its momentous importance and vital imperativeness must seem to every philosophic observer to exceed every other political question that the people are now called upon to determine.

"We mean the question whether those southern states which have inherited a negro population surpassing the number of their white citizens shall, by federal law and federal military force, be subjected to the political domination of the negroes.

"The republican party is by its nature and traditions under the necessity of enacting and executing an election law whose purpose and effect will be to put the negroes in control of several of the southern states. On the other hand, and by the nature of the ideas involved, the success of the democracy is death to the force bill project. Killed in this election it can never be revived.

"In this view of the contest, what conscientious democrat can hesitate about his duty? Better vote for the liberty and the white government of the southern states, even if the candidate were the devil himself, rather than consent to the election of respectable Benjamin Harrison with a force bill in his pocket."

Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Chicago, June 24.—The Inter-Ocean says: "The ticket put in the field by the democrats is the strongest they could make. As compared to a ticket headed by Hill it may be described as formidable. Mr. Cleveland represents a principle. Mr. Hill would have represented the appetite for place only. So thoroughly does Mr. Cleveland represent a principle that Mr. Watterson well said of him, 'he will be his own platform.'

"The nomination of Mr. Cleveland necessitates a campaign of education and eliminates the vulgar element of personality from the struggle. While the ticket is the strongest that could have been made, we do not consider it as strong. We shall confess ourselves mistaken if the republican majority in 1892 be not considerably greater than that of 1888."

WILL BE CREMATED.

Chicago, June 24.—The body of Dr. Henry Martyn Scudder was sent to New York to-day. The family will accompany the remains, which will be cremated at Long Island. The ashes will then be buried at the family burial ground, New Jersey.

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Chicago, June 24.—The Carden Brothers' malting establishment on Goose island was damaged to the extent of $46,000 last night by fire, started, it is thought, by lightning. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

WENT BOLDLY TO DEATH

The Montgomery County Murderer Executed.

Jacob Harvey Dies for His Brutal Deed.

He Asked No Mercy and Was Willing to be Hanged Without Any Trial.

Columbus, O., June 24.—Jacob Harvey, the slayer of Maggie Lehman, was executed at the Ohio penitentiary at 12:24 o'clock a. m., expiring in ten minutes after the drop fell, his neck having been broken.

It was one of the briefest, cleanest executions Ohio has ever known.

At 12:18 o'clock the march to the "annex" was headed by Captain Kirkendale, of the night watch.

At 12:20 o'clock the guards mounted the scaffold, and in another minute the murderer pale, but calm, was assisted to the trap.

"Have you anything to say," asked Deputy Playford. "Nothing," replied Harvey, as he coolly held out his arms for the heavy strap.

Once they were drawn too tightly, and he whispered that he was being pinched. He bid Chaplin Triffett good-bye and the black cap was drawn over his head. Ex-Assistant and Deputy Brady adjusted the noose, drawing it choking tight before giving the "ready."

Harvey dropped ten feet with a "crack" that plainly evidenced the breaking of his neck as he had desired. At 12:30 his pulse was 120, and 165 half a minute later. Every half minute it fell perceptibly, until at 12:39 Dr. Rowles pronounced him dead. The body was cut down and will be sent to New Carlisle to be buried by the side of his mother, as he requested. Harvey was attired in a plain black cutaway suit and cravat tie. He died game and without even a prayer for his redemption.

Murderer Harvey's last day on earth was no more eventful than the execution days of other convicts that have been confined in the "annex." This day, however, to Harvey was not like the previous ones that he has passed in the "horror of horrors." At noon he was taken from the cage and the company of the five other condemned men, to whom he bade sad but affectionate farewell, and was led to the death cell, which is but a few feet distant from the scaffold door.

Since the law went into effect in 1885 that all murderers in Ohio should be hanged at the state penitentiary, there have been 14 executions upon this scaffold. In their order the victims are as follows: Valentine Wagner, of Wayne county, executed July 31, 1885; Patrick Hartnett, Cincinnati, September 30, 1885; Arthur J. Grover, Wood county, May 14, 1886; Josiah Terrell, Meigs county, September 2, 1887; William George, Noble county, May 18, 1888; Ebenezer Stanyard, Youngstown, July 13, 1888; Blinky Morgan, Ravenna, August 3, 1888; double execution, Otto Leuth, Cleveland, Brocky Smith, Cincinnati, August 18, 1890; Ellis Miller, Union county, December 2, 1890; double execution, Elmer Sharkey, Preble county, Henry Popp, Stark county, December 18, 1890; Edward Blair, Putnam county, August 21, 1891; William Fitzgerald, Youngstown, November 19, 1891.

The crime for which Jacob Harvey paid the penalty with his life was the murder of Maggie Lehman on Saturday, September 19 last, in the city of Dayton, in a house known over the state as the "abbey." The victim was a common character, having led a dissolute life since her seperation from her husband four years previous.

In the third year of her separation from her husband she met her slayer. She lived with Harvey as his devoted mistress. Three small children had been dependent upon her for support, but they were soon placed in an orphans' asylum. Her care for them was indifferent, and the societies demanded it. Later, however, they were returned to her.

Jacob Harvey was not a fond lover, but a brutal taskmaster. Frequent were the kicks and oaths of abuse he showered upon the woman who was leading a life of shame through her love for him. And his abuse of her was no light matter, for he often left her insensible after a beating. In August, before the murder, he beat her into unconsciousness and was arrested, but the only charge she made against him, through fear that he would kill her, and yet loving him too fondly to state the true case, was that of calling her vulgar names.

August 17 Harvey was caught and jailed. He did not wait for trial, but with some other prisoners, broke jail and escaped. Nothing was heard of him for one month before the killing.

On the 17th of September he as suddenly and mysteriously made his appearance in Dayton, and calling upon the little Lehman children, asked where he could find their mother. He was directed to the "Abbey," where his former mistress was employed as chambermaid. Mrs. Lehman had by this time ceased to fear Harvey. She thought that, as a fugitive from justice, he would not return to harm her, and that her work at the "Abbey" secluded her from all harm should the quondam lover return to his haunts. Her surprise cannot be imagined when, on that fatal Saturday morning, in descending the stairs to breakfast, she came face to face with Harvey, whose face was livid with rage.

Two days Harvey had spent in Dayton, dodging the officers and hunting for his mistress. He went to the "Abbey" immediately after he arose and waited in the bar-room for her to come from her room. As he heard her familiar voice humming a well-known air, as she struck the stair, he arose to meet her. With his left hand he caught her right arm savagely and hissed: "Maggie, I want to speak to you." Not another word was uttered. The woman was paralyzed with fear as he dragged her to the veranda. With his right hand he drew a double-acting revolver from his hip pocket, placed the muzzle to her temple and fired. He released her and she fell back dead.

Harvey went to a neighboring saloon and gloated over his wanton crime. He made no resistance when the patrol wagon arrived and the chief of police took him to the station, first taking charge of the gun. Said he at the prison: "It was my intention to kill her. I don't care what they do with me. So far as I am concerned they may hang me without judge or jury." Before the magistrate he pleaded to the charge of murder: "I am guilty, there is no use to deny it." His trial was short and without any incident worthy of mention.

The executed murderer was 27 years of age and was born near Farrington distillery, three miles north of Troy, Miami county. His mother is dead, but his father resides in that county yet. He had three sisters and two brothers. His entire make-up was criminal and he had the sly movements of an animal. For many years he followed braking on the railroad, but his career was not always so honorable, and he was obliged to serve at least one term in the penitentiary for larceny. The cure of his appetite for crime was neither speedy nor effective. He embraced no Christianity until the last moment, and seemed more like a caged tiger than a living, intelligent human being.

Recent experiments made in Germany tend to show that abestos paper is not only of no advantage in a floor as a protection against fire, but it probably aids in the conflagration.

A GOLD RUSH.

Kingman, Ariz., June 24.—A great gold rush has set in to the new mining camp in Mohave county, Arizona, 50 miles north of here. Mining men who have visited the new camp estimate the amount of ore on the surface worth not less than $1,000,000. The new town will be called Silverado.

DEATH IN WATER.

The Millions of Dangers Water Contains and the Rapidity With Which They Increase—Don't Take Any Chances.

Few people have any idea how impure even the purest drinking water is. The very best water known is full of germs. They are the most prolific creatures of which we have any knowledge, for a single one may be the causative parent of more than sixteen million, five hundred thousand descendants in a day. They are also possessed of great vitality, for they can be carried great distances in water without losing their power of producing disease. They can be frozen or even boiled without being destroyed. They may be kept dried for years and yet when placed in a suitable medium will come to life and produce fermentation and decay. They are the great producers of malaria, fever, grip and most serious diseases.

"But," you say, "what can be done to avoid them since they cannot be killed by boiling?" There is but one thing which will effectively destroy them and that is coming in contact with spirits. A small amount of pure spirits in the water will effectually kill them and destroy their evil effects, but it should be borne in mind that nothing but the purest and best spirits should be used for this purpose, and that nothing is equal to whiskey. Not the ordinary whiskies which are upon the market, but something far above them—something which is highly endorsed by the scientific world. Such a whiskey is Duffy's Pure Malt, which is, to-day, more popular than ever before in its history, and which is doing wonders to destroy the germs of every disease. There are hundreds of families that use it constantly in connection with their drinking water, both at the table and between meals. Beware of any druggist or grocer who seeks to offer you something he says is "just as good." Duffy's is the only pure medicinal whiskey upon the market.

KEIFER WAS KNOCKED OUT

A Bitter Contest in the Seventh Ohio District.

Col. George W. Wilson, of Madison, Nominated on the Six Hundred and Twenty-first Ballot.

Washington, O., June 24.—The Seventh district republican congressional convention, after one of the most bitterly contested fights in convention history, effected a nomination yesterday afternoon on the 621st ballot, the nominee, a dark horse, being Col. Geo. W. Wilson, of Madison.

At the noon recess Gen. J. Warren Keifer, the principal candidate, who sat eight years in the national house, part of the time as speaker, told his delegates that he did not believe it possible that he could secure the nomiation, and told them to do what they thought best.

Clark county then went to John F. Locke, but failed with him.

Finally, when nearly everybody had come to the conclusion that the convention would have to adjourn sine die and another be called to make the nomination, Keifer's force effected a combination with Madison and Fayette by which Wilson was nominated.

The fight was one of Keifer against the field, Clark county, because of its delegation being the largest in the convention, being more the object of attack than its candidate.

Next to Gen. Keifer, Col. Orr, of Miami, a brother-in-law of Senator Calvin S. Brice, was the principal candidate. The district is republican by 2,000.

HE FOUND A BANK.

"I struck a far western town about a month ago," said a drummer, "with a check in my pocket and no cash to speak of. It was one of those modern towns, and I had my doubts about there being a bank in the place, but I ventured to interrogate the landlord:

"'Have you got a bank here?' I inquired politely, for the western man has a deal of local pride, and you have to give him the benefit of the doubt.

"'Yes, a lot of 'em,' he replied proudly.

"'Is there one near here?

"'Yes, right next door.'

"'National or private?'

"'Private, of course,' and he looked rather surprised.

"'Can I get a check cashed there?'

"'That depends.'

"'Depends on what?'

"'On your luck.'

"'What's luck got to do with it? Isn't it run on business principles?'

"'Course it is,' he said, with a not very pleasant emphasis. 'I run it myself.'

"'Then you ought to be able to tell me what kind of a bank it is.'

"'I can; it's a faro bank.'

"And all the others were like it, and I had to get my only customer in the place to lend me $10 till I could reach a town where other banks prevailed."—Detroit Free Press.

WAS AN EXCITING RACE

Hanlan and O'Connor Declared the Winners,

Although the Americans Claim a Dead Heat.

A Big Sea and an Unsatisfactory Race—Base Ball News of the Day—General Sporting Gossip.

The great double scull race, three miles with a turn, for the citizens' purse of $1,500 and the championship of the world, has been rowed at Erie, and the Toronto team, Hanlan and O'Connor, still hold the title.

This event had attracted thousands of people from Canada and the United States, and Americans had strong hopes that Hosmer and Gaudaur would win the championship, for Hosmer pulled a lively oar. The weather began to grow very threatening at noon, and at the hour appointed for the race the bay was too rough for a row boat. Referee Dan J. Galanaugh, of Philadelphia, postponed the race for one hour. At 6:54 o'clock the scullers were called into line. The water was still rough, but the crowd impatient, and it was deemed best to send the men off.

The timekeepers were D. S. Crawford, of the Erie Times, for the American team, and E. J. Evans, of the Sunny Side club, Toronto, for the Canadian team.

At the word "go" the scullers shot out at a thirty-eight stroke and Hosmer and Gaudaur led slightly. At the end of the first quarter they were about even; at the turn the champions led by a boat and a half. The water was now quite rough. At the three-quarter stretch the scullers were pulling against a head wind and their boats half filled with water. Hosmer and Gaudaur struck out for clear water. They were now rowing fully thirty-four strokes and the betting was even on the American team. The people in the steamer grew excited and the boat closed in on the scullers, almost swamping them, and compelling them to pull heavy on the starboard oar, a quartering course.

The last quarter was a terrific one, the men sitting in water with a choppy sea. The din of whistles and yells was confusing and drowned everything. Hanlan and O'Connor crossed the line in 19:55 and Hosmer and Gaudaur were within two feet of them. Many of the American team's friends claimed a dead heat, but Referee Galanaugh decided in favor of the Canadian team. Hosmer and Gaudaur are so confident that they can win the championship that they challenged Hanlan and O'Connor to row again this season for $1,000 a side. Gaudaur had not been in practice for several months, and was not in the best condition.

THE NEWSBOYS' PARADISE.

"Do him, Dooney!"

"Chuck him a twister!"

"Hey, Kelly, lay out furder!"

"Soak it, Slathers!"

And Slathers, summoning up all the latent energy in his puny frame, "soaked it"—the "it" in this instance being a small and damaged base ball.

The ground over which it bounded was the asphalt of City Hall Park, and the players who pursued it while Slathers gamboled around three imaginary bases were grimy and undersized newsboys.

There are ball games at the Polo Grounds, there are other games elsewhere, but there are no games like those played in City Hall Park.

They are continuous and marked by variations from the accepted rules that would send a league umpire into primary paresis. The season for them has fairly opened, and until snow begins to fly again the newsboys of Park Row and vicinity will indulge in their version of the national sport.

A barrel stave serves for a bat, the ball is of inexpensive variety which is purchased at candy shops for five cents, and on state occasions the bases are chalked out, on others they are left to the imagination.

"Nines" is a term that would hardly apply; sometimes there are twelve on a side, sometimes fifteen.

During the day three and four games are going at the same time, and at night, when the electric lights are turned on, they continue sometimes until the morning papers are out. The moral effect of this is quite salutary; "craps" are neglected and the gentle art of robbing the Italian peddler falls to innocuous desuetude.

The sparrow policeman is the only foe that the players fear, and at first his descents upon them are frequent and vicious, but with repetition his energy flags, and soon he goes no further than to wave his club from afar and requests the boys to "Git!"

But the offenders, as a rule, apply their dexter fingers to their nasal organs and wave the remaining fingers airily.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

AN EXCEPTION!

To the rule that competition for cheapness and competition for excellence are always strangers. You are aware that the bulk of spring clothing is sold before the Fourth of July. The reason why we can sell you fine custom-made clothing very much cheaper than what is designated as ready made clothing requires no vivid imagination to understand. The custom tailors show good judgment when they send us uncalled-for garments for less in some cases than the cost of the material. They consider the first loss the best. They do not desire to carry any made-up garments over, anticipating a better price next spring (a year from now. Ready cash is what they want. There appears to be no end to the amount they are sending us daily. Our trade justifies us in still receiving these rare bargains. We shall offer this week for $15.00.

Fine imported Clay Worsteds, Whip Cords, Cassimeres, and other weaves too numerous to mention, in Sack and Frocks, light and dark shades, all mixtures, and all cuts, straight fronts and double-breasted sacks, skeleton backs, silk lined, etc. Come and look at them. See if you think they can be made to order for $35.00 by a first-class tailor. For $10.00.

We will show you ALL WOOL CASSIMERE SUITS AND GOOD GRADES, All Wool CHEVIOTS, light and dark plain patterns and mixtures. You can't get them made to order for less than $25.00 to $30.00.

SKEPTICS ARE INVITED TO LOOK AT THESE GARMENTS AND WILL NOT BE URGED TO BUY.

Ask to see our fine imported Light Colored Cassimeres and Cheviots, Sack Suits, silk lined. Nothing so refined and artistic ever came to this city before this season. We sell them for $18.00, $20.00 $22.50 and $25.00.

YOU CAN FIND ANY STYLE, COLOR OR CUT OF GOODS AT OUR ESTABLISHMENT TO FIT NORMAL SIZED LEAN OR FAT MEN.

Ask to see our summer coats and vests.

LATE COMERS.

Two styles of Bed Room Suites ordered in March have just put in an appearance.

They're late——

Most too late for this season's trade, but the style and make the finish — the value all through for the money—make them welcome even at this late date.

At these prices they'll make somebody happy:—

40.00 and 42.50--50.00 and 55.00.

Square glass or cheval.

They would have sold for more in March--

But it's late.

Delegates Colburn and Habbelar Return and Bring Good Tidings.

"It was the grandest and greatest gathering I ever attended," said Mr. W. J. Colburn, who this morning returned from the Chicago convention, to a Bee.

"Will Tammany stick?"

"Stick? Well, I should say so. Do you know the Tammanyites are hustlers from the word go, and royal good fellows, too. They're for the ticket all right enough. I spoke to many of them personally, and all guarantee that New York will be in line for 'Cleve and Steve' in November."

Mr. Habbelar and quite a number of Toledoans also returned this morning.

Albert B. Combs, the mail carrier who was arrested Saturday evening for having an undelivered letter on his person, was given a hearing before U. S. The evidence showed that he had made several attempts to deliver the letter, which was a decoy, without success. There was no evidence that showed he was doing anything but his duty, although he might have been a little careless in so doing. Mr. Coombs' friends congratulated him on the result of the hearing.

ALLEGED VIOLATION

Of the Alien Contract Labor Law—Investigation in Progress.

Immigrant Inspector T. C. Ryan went to Fremont Tuesday and made affidavits charging that Richard Kleinkowes, Otto Nitt, Ernst Grah and Herman Schloeter, workmen for the Claus Shear Co., were employed in violation of the alien contract law. The men had a hearing before Justice E. L. Bogue, of Fremont, and the testimony will be forwarded to the immigrant bureau at Washington and to United States Commissioner Hall, of this city. If the evidence is deemed sufficient, proceedings will be instituted against the Claus Shear Co. in the U. S. district court for violation of the alien contract labor law.

Mr. Ryan said to a Bee this morning that the testimony in the case was very strong, but it is hoped the shear company can prove that there was no violation of the law on its part.

Important Ruling in United States Court.

Judge Ricks Sustains a Motion for New Trial in the Big Fuel Oil Suit.

Judge Ricks made a very important ruling in United States court late this afternoon in the case of the Petroleum Oil company against the Syndicate Oil and Fuel company.

This is an action brought by the Petroleum Fuel company to recover damages for an alleged breach of contract involving the sale of oil.

The case was tried in United States court last fall, and the contest was a most extensive and bitter one, and the result was watched with deep interest by oil men and dealers all over the country.

When the case was tried the jury returned a verdict of $38,000 damages for the plaintiff.

The defense filed a petition for a new trial, which was argued during the present term of court.

At a late hour to-day Judge Ricks sustained the motion for new trial, and set the verdict aside for new trial.

ALONG THE GREAT LAKES

Heavy Storms Reported by All Craft.

Vessels Are Having Much Trouble in Chicago.

All the News, Local and General, of Interest to the People Who Have Property on the Water.

Chicago, June 24.—(Special)—The hampered condition of things in the harbor at present has become known all over the lakes and is hurting Chicago and her trade generally. Vessels and steamers which can secure charters to any other port take them in preference to suffering the inevitably delay in Chicago harbor. A coal dealer says:

"The condition of things in Chicago river is simply disgraceful and the city officials do not move a finger to improve it. With the Seamen's union difficulties, the neglect of the river dispatch service for one whole day and night during each week, the system of towing, the obstructions in the river at Van Buren street and at Canal street, and the freshet causing such a stiff outcurrent, vessels might as well suspend business altogether."

Arriving craft report the weather outside the same as in the city—one succession of squalls with heavy black clouds, thunder, lightning and rain. The wind came from the north and northwest and was very fierce at times.

The spars of numerous vessels outside have doubtless suffered from the lightning. The schooner Live Oak which left Chicago on Wednesday, was towed back into the harbor yesterday afternoon in a crippled condition. Her main boom was broken and her main sail blown away. The large schooner Baltic got a touch of the lightning while lying in the harbor. The handsome scorn on her maintopmast was cleft in twain as cleanly as if the work had been done by a knife, and the fluid shattered the mast down some distance. The crew felt the shock all over the vessel.

Found the Reef.

Colchester, Ont., June 24.—The United States lake survey party, who have been located here for some time under command of Lieutenant Richie, have succeeded in locating the obstruction in Lake Erie, due south from Hackett's dock and one mile distant from shore.

It was found to be a half mile in length and a quarter of a mile in width as far as they have gone and extends towards the southeast.

The bottom is composed of sand, clay, and large boulders, some of which stand six feet from bottom, twelve feet six inches of water over them being the least found yet. They have not succeded in finding a second reef, as was reported by temporary soundings taken last summer by Captain McKay, of Cleveland, in the interests of Vessel Owners' association, but will decide that fact before they are through.

This survey must be considered of vital importance to the shipping interests of the great lakes, as it will place upon record a most dangerous obstruction almost in mid-channel and it is hoped the government will appropriate sufficient money to enable work of this kind to be extended in the future. As it stands at present all work of this kind must stop June 30 for lack of funds.

GILLMAN DISCHARGED.

Judge Sala Decides the Case This Morning.

It Was Accidental Shooting—The Defendant Thanks the Court, Weeping Like a Child.

This afternoon Judge Sala disposed of the case of Ferdinand Gillman, who shot young Kauffmann on the night of June 12. The court stated that under the testimony Gillman could not be held for murder in the first degree.

"The evidence in the case," said Judge Sala, "showed that the boys in front of Gillman's house on that night were drunk, and that they made a disturbance."

Judge Sala said he had been to the place of the shooting and placed men in the positions of the principals in the affair as shown by the evidence and in doing so found that the two witnesses who testified that they saw it all could not have possibly seen the two men at the distance they testified to have been from them. Their testimony was unreliable also because of the fact that they had been drinking.

The court held that Gillman did not point the revolver at Kauffmann with the intention of killing or shooting him.

"Gillman was at his home late at night with his family. He was attacked, pounded and driven to the wall of his house by force and violence; he had the right to defend himself from bodily harm, even if he had to take a life. Even though Gillman had a right to shoot I am convinced that he did not do so intentionally and that it is a case of accidental shooting.

"I can not help but find that the deceased came to his death by his own folly. Mr. Gillman, you are discharged."

Mr. Gillman thanked the judge, crying like a child.

To the Auditor of Lucas County, Ohio:

In accordance with resolution of County Commissioners dated February 24, 1891, the undersigned took observations to ascertain the declination of the magnetic meridian and respectfully reports the following:

Six readings were taken from each of the verniers ("A" and "B") at the north and south ends of the established meridian line, the average of which readings shows a declination of the needle from the true meridian of 29 minutes, 30 seconds west of north.

Instrument used was a Beckman Transit, No. 914. I hereby certify that the foregoing is a correct report of observations of the declination of the magnetic from the true meridian.

Labor in the Adirondacks.

The Oswego (N. Y.) Palladium calls the Bee's dispatches concerning the cruelty and abuse of the slaves who are at work on the Adirondack branch of the N. Y. Central, a "sensational story," and makes correction as follows:

While the abuses practiced in the woods have been extreme in some cases no such state of things exists as the Bee describes. Men have been half-starved and defrauded of their wages, but that they have been shot down like cattle is not true. * * * A reporter for this paper talked with a large number of workmen who came out of the woods not long ago because they could not get their pay. They said they had been half-starved, but not restrained and were willing to go back again if paid their wages.

This seems to be more a confirmation of the story of abuses than a refutation of it. The Bee's information came from those who had investigated the matter. If the cruelty of the taskmasters has been exaggerated, if no one has been murdered, everyone is glad to be assured of the fact. That the workmen have been "half starved and defrauded of their wages," as affirmed by the Palladium, is quite "sensational" enough to prove that the "protection" to American, or any other kind of labor, through tariff taxation, which Mr. Chauncey Depew, high mogul of the republican party and of the Vanderbilt road goes up and down the country proclaiming, is a fraud of the first water. The "defrauded and half fed" slaves of the Depew and Vanderbilt combination, along with those thousands who delve in the Pennsylvania mills and mines, are positive proof of the monstrous lie. These are on a level with the "pauper laborer" in any part of the world. That the wretched laborers thus starved and cheated will go back to their toil if they can be promised food and payment of their scanty wage, shows to what low and groveling place the American workingman has descended under the "protective policy" of Mr. Depew's party.

Stevenson.

Cleveland and Stevenson is the ticket which the democrats present to the country. The world knows Cleveland. He is one of the historical characters of modern times. When mediocre presidents shall be forgotten the name of Cleveland will be as closely associated with American history as those other illustrious presidents, Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln. The man and his measures are popular enough to secure democratic victory in this year of national contest, and it is gratifying that his associate on the ticket is a person of commanding character in state and national affairs. Hon. A. E. Stevenson, of Illinois, the candidate for vice president, was first assistant postmaster general during Mr. Cleveland's administration. He was the most popular man in the department. He is a thoroughly practical politician. His popularity at home is very great. Some years ago he defeated Gen. John McNulty for congress in a district good for 3,000 republican majority. The nomination of Mr. Stevenson for vice president was well received in Chicago and the general expression among the well posted politicians of that city is that with Stevenson for vice president and Altgeld for governor, the electoral vote of Illinois is reasonably sure to be cast for the democratic candidates.

The democratic platform of tariff for revenue only is a sound plank on which Cleveland and Stevenson can stand.

To elect the democratic candidate is public duty which will no doubt be splendidly performed.

The Politics of the Offices.

"Public office is a public trust," but the directing control of the offices is the dispenser of official patronage. This is the practical side of politics and this is the element of weakness which Mr. Harrison, candidate for President, will realize during the campaign. The candidate who has more than one hundred thousand offices at his prospective disposal ought easily to be elected, and will, if the practical part of politics is not entirely ignored. The situation is exactly the reverse of four years ago. Cleveland was then in and Harrison had the offices to promise. Now every office is filled by men whom Harrison appointed, and this powerful lever is removed from his control. Cleveland has experience with office bestowal and ought to make the most of the situation. Especially ought he to use the offices in New York to conciliate democrats who have been offended ever since he filled the offices with mugwumps seven years ago. To conciliate factions and reconcile differences should be his object, and the offices will do much in this direction. Mr. Cleveland owes this much to his party, and he cannot do less and expect favor in the Empire State. Practical politics is good politics if consistently followed.

An Old Combine.

The Boston Herald calls attention to the fact that the Reid-Depew-Hiscock combination is not a new one. In 1872 Whitelaw Reid, editor of the Tribune, was booming the democratic candidate for President, Mr. Depew was democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor of his state and Mr. Hiscock was candidate for congressional honors at the hands of the democrats. Remembering the result of their efforts in '72, the prospect for '92 cannot be extraordinarily encouraging to those most vitally interested.

Tammany's claws were under velvet covers. The New York delegation held itself nobly. Bitter and determined they were, but they were not ugly and boisterous. That is, they were Boies-terous only when the great Iowan scored, every count, great or small, taking from the Cleveland strength. But when the entire delegation rose and cast its 72 votes for Larry Neal's substitute for the tariff plank of the committee—the tariff plank that first of all embodies Mr. Cleveland's sentiments—it was a grand exhibition of principle above prejudice. Tammany was outspoken, and unrelenting in its warfare, and its leader, Bourke Cockran, with his persuasive eloquence, would almost convince the unbelievers that the sachems and warriors were the chief saints of the democracy. They were wise and honest at the close. "It is a bitter take," they said, "but democratic defection means republican success, and we are democrats." The enemy which reckoned on a great display of claws and a tearing time is grievously disappointed.

Except for Larry Neal's masterful work for tariff reform, Ohio made a sorry spectacle of itself in Chicago. The delegation went to pieces on a jump and frittered away its power. In a badly battered condition the delegates return home somewhat like our friends the enemy after the Minneapolis convention. Ohio's forty-six votes ought to have been of commanding influence. As it is—well, perhaps it might have been worse.

A Washington dispatch says, "President Harrison went quietly to bed and did not know until morning that Mr. Cleveland had received the nomination." That was wise of Benjamin. He needs all the rest he can get, for he has business before him from now until next November.

The expectation that ex-Gov. Gray, of Indiana, would be nominated for vice president was not realized, but, as Gov. Gray is better satisfied with the result as it is, the situation is all right. The democrats of Indiana are pleased with Stevenson and will give him loyal support.

Cleveland and Stevenson, good men, good democrats, good vote getters.

ONE HUNDRED GUNS

Salute the Next President and Vice President.

The Local Democracy Right in Line for Cleveland and Stevenson—The Republican Fiasco on the Inside.

Did not the republican brethren of this city announce a rattling old-time ratification of the Harrison-Reid nominations? It was to have been held last Friday, and there was to have been an hew of a time.

The rally was somehow sidetracked, because—well, Tucker hadn't quite recovered from the effects of Minneapolis pop and peanuts and Gen. Bill Gibson was—(sic)—sick.

The general may have been too sick to attend a rally Friday evening, but he was well enough to be in attendance in the United States court here the next morning, and, by the way, it was remarked that the genial old soul never looked better in his life.

Strange, was it not?

Mayor Emmick was not feeling very well himself. Indeed, it seemed that outside the federal building indisposition was the rule, and it was a sick crowd all around.

"The federal building people will have their turn next November," one of the "sick" said to a Bee, yesterday. "Some of them'll be sicker then than ever Bill Gibson was and don't you forget it."

"Why did the rally peter out?" the Bee enquired.

"Rally, hades; we didn't propose to let Jim Brown and that limb from Lima pull the wool over our eyes. I presume I'll vote for Harrison, but Mr. Harrison's fool friends are going to get him into a hole."

The postoffice denies the paternity of the still-born boom. It says it was not in it and knew nothing about it.

Then Look on This Picture.

David B. Hill had and has many admirers in Toledo, but they are too loyal democrats to utter one word against the party nominee. In fact the Hill men are the workers and fighters and they never sulk. They bounded into line like old chargers, and are found to-day, every man of them, with their coats off hustling for Cleveland and Stevenson. They were out yesterday afternoon at the rally in Court House park.

The echoes of the cheers which greeted the announcement of Cleveland's nomination had not died away when the local democracy prepared for a celebration. All day yesterday the committee in charge waited patiently for the result of the ballot for vice president.

Battery D boys stood by their guns in Court House park ready to fire a 100 gun salute, and when the message bearing the announcement of Stevenson's nomination flashed over the wires the gun boomed forth its song of triumph and victory.

The radiant faces that beamed from the hundreds that thronged the park presaged victory. It is in the air.

The boys are in line, not only in Toledo, but all over the country, for Cleveland, Stevenson and tariff reform.

CURRENT COMMENT.

As a whole the democratic platform will bear the close scrutiny of all who have looked to the democratic party for distinct progress in the fight against the combination of petted monopolies under modern republicanism as illustrated in the McKinley bill.—Chicago Times.

The triumph of Cleveland is a Jacksonian triumph; the people have prevailed against the leaders. The people are wiser than their leaders. The force that carried the nomination will be equally potent in carrying the election that is to follow.—Philadelphia Record.

The democratic party has chosen as its standard-bearer for 1892 the man who led it to victory in 1884. Grover Cleveland was the logical candidate of his party and his nomination was merely the ratification of the wishes of the rank and file of the democracy throughout the entire country. Whether subsequent developments shall demonstrate that the nomination of Mr. Cleveland was the wisest that could have been made or not there can be no question that yesterday's convention voiced the sentiments of the greater popular constituency it represented.—Chicago Mail.

The nomination of Grover Cleveland means victory for democracy against radicalism. At such a crisis as this, when the country is threatened by a faction intrenched in power with the thousands of federal officeholders under its control acting as its unscrupulous agents in politics, and re-enforced by millions of money contributed by a Plutocratic class desperately bent on perpetuating its supremacy and willing to go any length in the attempt to retain its hold on government, the leader needed for the people is one whose honesty all know; whose sincerity all can trust; whose courage has been demonstrated in victory with the people as in defeat for their cause. Grover Cleveland is such a man.—St. Louis Republic.

The nomination of Mr. Cleveland made yesterday with rare unanimity has long been a foregone conclusion. In our own organization, and in that of the republicans, the course of events has clearly pointed to this inevitable conclusion of months of not unprofitable debate. Opposition to the nomination of Mr. Cleveland served only to intensify the popular conviction that he alone could thoroughly arouse the elements opposed to the continued ascendency of the republican party, and when the convention met in Chicago this belief was irresistible. The Courier-Journal accepts the result with no feeling of dissatisfaction or disappointment; on the contrary, it finds us fully prepared to support it sincerely and heartily.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ON THE WAY HOME

Delegates Leave the Great City on the Lake.

Tammany the Great Object of Interest.

The Braves Were Defeated in a Hard Fight,

But They Say They Will Work for Cleveland.

Iowa and Ohio Men Return With Smiles on Their Faces—Boies to be Trotted Out Again in 1896.

Chicago, June 24.—In the absence of crowds of badge-bedecked, dripping democrats who invaded the city last Monday, the streets to-day present a comparatively quiet appearance.

It rained last night and this forenoon, as it has rained every night and day during the convention, and as a consequence the water soaked flags, banners, lithographs and other decorations still droop from the fronts of buildings in the business district.

The big barn-like wigwam, too, in which the delegates passed perhaps the most uncomfortable hours of their lives, still stands on the lake front, bedraggled, steaming with moisture, the very abomination of desolation.

But the delegates, the men who under shelter of umbrellas, nominated Cleveland and Stevenson, are nearly all gone.

Most of them left last night for their homes.

They had exhausted themselves in the excitement and enthusiasm of the convention and the departure was in consequence comparatively quiet. Some of the delegates decided to remain in Chicago over night and a few will not leave till to-night, intending to see more of the city than the limited leisure of the last few days allowed and to view the progress on the fair buildings.

Gov. Gray's little army of boomers went back to Indiana last night. Nearly all of them left the city on late trains. The Gray, Hendricks and Shields clubs, of Indianapolis trudged down street to the depot in disorganized crowds. The Hoosiers are not sulkers, but they would have gone into the November battle with much more confidence had Gov. Gray's aspirations been awarded.

The Ohio men, too, went home last night. Having no favorite son to mourn over—Campbell having declared himself not a candidate—the Buckeyes were in a good humor.

Many of the Iowa clubs also took their departure last night, but many still remain. The Hawkeyes are not at all disgruntled. They took the defeat of Boies with equanimity, the more so, it is believed, because they at no time really hoped to nominate him.

Their idea was to put him in training for 1896, and this they feel they have accomplished. They held to their purpose through thick and thin, and repeated efforts to sidetrack the Iowa democrats failed because every delegate and every visitor understood and felt the importance of holding fast to the single purpose which brought them here.

When they were visited by numerous delegations yesterday morning and were asked to permit the use of Gov. Boies' name as a candidate for the office of vice president it was for a time difficult for the delegation to resist.

Yet the feeling was that consent could not be given without permitting the country to believe that they had not come here honestly to present the governor's name for first place and for no other.

Stevenson is an entirely acceptable man to Iowa democrats for second place.

State Senator Shields, chairman of the Iowa delegation, said that not a man who was here to promote the candidacy of Gov. Boies would be found lazy or sluggish in the campaign for Cleveland and Stevenson.

Tammany left town last night. It was expected that there would be some sort of demonstration when the Indians tossed their gripsacks into their train, but there was nothing of the kind.

The Kings county democracy band roared out a lusty march while the tall plug hatted paraders from Brooklyn tramped around corner after corner to the railway station.

But the Tammany braves wandered to the depot as old women wander to the huckleberry fields of western New York. They did not come by assembly districts but tramped as they pleased. There was no music. Tammany was not happy, and the Kings county democracy was not overanxious to march to the melody of the musicians.

The people along the streets cheered the braves as they marched to the station, but the shouters and the delegates from the Empire state were grim and silent.

Just as the first section of the Tammany train left for the east, a fierce storm which has been in progress since May 9 of the present year, burst into a flame and a disagreeable grumble. The engine of the first section of the Tammany train tooted defiantly in the wind and rain, and men and women gathered under umbrellas at the stations had a complimentary shout for the sturdy democrats who had waged a fierce war on the ex-president.

The Tammany leaders, when asked about the ticket, faced the situation with all the resignation that could be expected.

They told everybody that Tammany and the regular democracy of New York state bowed cheerfully to the will of the people, as expressed in the convention. They were democrats first, last and all the time, and no mater how bitter the pill they had to swallow they would gulp it down and take off their coats to work for success in November.

It was evident the medicine was bitter, but every delegate and committeeman seemed determined to take it with good grace.

But the Syracuse crowd—the anti-snappers—were the gentlemen who owned the earth and a part of the solar system also to-day. They will not leave for home until this evening, having passed the night in a series of impromptu jollification meetings.

One of these was held in Mr. Fairchild's room. There was a regular love feast in which stump speeches and wine were the important features. Mr. Fairchild spoke at considerable length and declared that the men whom he led to Chicago would do nothing to antagonize the Tammany people.

Earnest work, however, would be done in behalf of Mr. Cleveland, but it would be quiet in its character. Among others to make impromptu speeches were Gen. Tracy and James H. Eckles, of Illinois. The anti-snappers are perfectly happy.

As for the southern folks there is considerable diversity of opinion as to the result of the convention. Most of them are satisfied, but two of the delegations at least will go home with heavy hearts. North Carolina and South Carolina never had much hope, after the convention opened, that there would be sufficient opposition to Mr. Cleveland to prevent his nomination.

The delegates, however, held together and voted from first to last as they had planned. One of the leading delegates from the Palmetto state said this morning:

"I shall go home and work hard for the ticket, but I fear that the Farmers' alliance will gather new impetus and that the party will be so strong in our state we shall come in second best. I cannot say that the republicans are likely to secure the electoral votes, but that party will also become stronger than it has been heretofore. Seriously, there is great danger of our losing the state."

The members of the delegation did not show any interest in the nomination of vice president, since, they said, it made little difference who was named for second place. The delegation will return home to-day.

The free silver question is what worries the southerners and that, too, is the sore spot for the Colorado men and other delegations. In fact, there is little doubt that the free silver men, both republicans and democrats, mean to carry the war into Africa by inaugurating some kind of an independent movement.

Whether or not party loyalty will ultimately assert itself and prevent such a bolt is a question which is causing the leaders considerable anxiety.

Altogether, however, the sentiment of the great majority of the delegates is satisfaction with the ticket and the platform. Heart burnings and disgruntlement undoubtedly exist to some extent, but the leaders of the democratic hosts believe that all differences will be reconciled and that the party will present an unbroken front when it meets its great opponent in November.

TO LEASE THE C., J. & M.

Midnight Thieving at the Pennsylvania Docks.

The Coal Stealers Captured—Earnings of Local Roads—Other Matters of Interest to Railroaders.

General Manager F. B. Drake, of the Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw railroad, said this morning that it was highly probable that the road would be leased to the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton shortly.

The contract between the two companies has been approved by the directors of the C., J. & M., and a meeting of the stockholders will be held at the general offices of the road in this city, Friday, July 22, to vote on the adoption or rejection of the same.

The C., H. & D. stockholders will meet about the same time and consider the same matter. The deal will go through without a doubt.

The officials of the C., J. & M. do not know as yet what effect the change will have on the Toledo offices of the road. It is probable though that there will be considerable shiftnig about.

River Pirates at Work.

For some time past the Pennsylvania Railroad company has been missing coal from the cars at its Toledo docks. It was thought perhaps that river pirates who did some extensive stealing five or six years ago, were again at work.

Last night a watch was placed with good results. About midnight a flat boat sided up to the docks. Two forms were made out in the gloom. They were seen to take the coal from the cars and load it on to their flat boat.

Detective John McLaughlin, of the Pennsylvania company, arrested two young men on suspicion, Israel and John Baer.

It has been found that the thieves took the coal up the river and sold it along the docks on Water street.

Local Coal Roads.

The local coal roads are just now doing a lively business. There is only one drawback, and that is that they cannot secure a sufficient number of boats to push the coal forward. The Toledo & Ohio Central has 1,100 cars of coal, to-day, waiting to be loaded. The other roads also feel the scarcity of boats at this point. Wheat is going to Buffalo in large quantities and return loaded, giving Toledo the go-by. It is difficult to secure boats to Green Bay, Milwaukee, Manitowoc and Escanaba.

Cheap Traveling.

Passenger business it a little light just at present on local railroads. The traveling public is waiting for the low Fourth of July rates to do their railroading. The Central Traffic association has authorized a rate of one fare for the round trip within a radius of 100 miles from the initial point. The Clever Leaf will authorize such a rate all along the line irrespective of distance.

To Toledo Races.

The Toledo Passenger committee has authorized a rate of one and one-third fares for the round trip to the races at Toledo, July 12 to 15, on all lines entering the city.

Ohio Central Lines.

The earnings of the Toledo & Ohio Central railroad for the third week in June, 1892, amounted to $30,757. The earnings for the same week of last year were $28,400. This shows an increase of $2,357.

The earnings of the Toledo, Columbus & Cincinnati road for the same periods were: 1892, $5,833; 1891, $,502; an increase of $331.

The Challenge Accepted.

The Toledo & Ohio Central boys have accepted the challenge of the nine composed of Ben Vail, W. H. Young, Frank Foster et al., to play for the benefit of the Toledo Boys' home, Saturday, July 2. C. H. Baldwin, of the auditing department of the T. & O. C., will captain the Ohio Central club.

Clover Leaf Earnings.

The earnings of the Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City railroad for the third week in June, 1891, were $37,176. The earnings for the same week of last year were $36,121. This shows an increase of $1,055.

IN THE FOURTH OHIO.

Some Lively Politics Soon to be Placed on Tap.

Celina, O., June 24.—The political situation in this (the Fourth) district is again assuming an attractive position. Judge Day, who was nominated at Lima for the circuit bench to succeed Judge Beers, will in a short time resign as common pleas judge, in order that a successor may be elected to fill the unexpired term, which expires February 8, 1895.

The governor will appoint a judge to fill the vacancy caused by his resignation, for the period of perhaps three months, until the election can be made. There are two candidates in the field now, both of whom are republicans, seeking the appointment, viz, Hon. H. C. Greene, of Van Wert, and Hon. A. H. Reeve, of Delphos.

A combination is on foot to nominate W. T. Mooney, of St. Marys, to the common pleas bench to succeed Judge Day.

Hon. G. M. Saltzgaber, of Van Wert, has also declared himself a candidate for the nomination.

FORESTERS, ATTENTION.

A special meeting of Court Lucas will be held Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, in Clarke's hall, to make arrangements for attending the funeral of late Bro. P. C. Eiseman, Sunday afternoon. Meet at 1 o'clock sharp, Sunday, June 26, at Clarke's hall.

CHICAGO AGAIN FLOODED.

Three Times Within a Week They Were Deluged.

Water Came Down Faster Than It Could be Carried Off—Much Damage.

Chicago, June 24.—Yesterday's heavy rain flooded basements throughout the city for the third time within a week.

The loss to goods stored in basements in the business district by yesterday's flood is estimated at $150,000. At several of the principal hotels the engine rooms were flooded and the fires extinguished, stopping the elevators and shutting off the electric lights, much to the disgust of the tired delegates who were obliged to trudge up and down stairs.

Several buildings were struck by lightning, the heaviest loser being the Garden Malting company, whose plant was damaged to the extent of $150,000. Several hundred feet of pavement was washed out in different parts of the city. The downpour extended throughout the northern part of the state and much damage was done.

The first requisite, is a modicum of brains, from which a few practical ideas can be evolved. After you get the idea, push it into public notice. Bring it into notice at the risk of being called a crank. Then stick; stick like grim death. Glue yourself to your idea. Wrap yourself all around with your idea. Hang to it; eat and sleep with it. Finally success comes. LONG'S BREAKFAST FLOUR is the product of a crank.

Why is it that some houses always need re-painting?

The owner has them painted in the Spring; by Fall they have a dingy, rusty, faded look.

A neighbor's always looks fresh, clean, and newly painted, and yet is not re-painted oftener than every four or five years.

PREDESTINATION.

'Twas prophesied of Colonel Laurel
That he would meet death in a quarrel.
Believing in predestination,
The Colonel felt no trepidation,
But faced his enemies undaunted,
And never failed when he was wanted.
Of skirmishes he fought a hundred,
Felt most at home when cannons thundered;
He wooed fair Mistress Fame and caught her
'Mid clash of steel and bloody slaughter.
Nor shot nor shell did e'er affect him,
And grinning Death seemed to respect him.
One day a fit of indigestion
Resulted in a bad congestion;
Alarmed, he called in four physicians,
And begged them for their wise decisions.
The Allopathic, Homoeopathic,
Faith curer, and Electropathic,
Each made a different diagnosis,
And gave strange pills and bitter doses;
And long they wrangled and disputed,
While each the other's claims refuted,
And while they fought the suffering Colonel
Sank slowly to his sleep eternal.
Predestined fate! Poor Colonel Laurel
Had truly met death in a quarrel.

—Milton Goldsmith in Public Ledger.

The bicyclist has in that city many miles of asphalt pavement to ride over, and with its woodland and riverside roadway on Belle Isle park, it has become emphatically a bicycle town.

James Dredge, of the British royal commission, recently passed a vacation at Venice, and in that ancient and historic city found great interest shown in the World's Fair, particularly among the manufacturers of the exceptionally beautiful glassware for which the city is celebrated. In the lace and embroidery industries also careful preparations are being made to send a splendid exhibit to the Fair. Commissioner Dredge writes that the collection of rare old lace and Venetian glass which will be exhibited from Venice will constitute a most valuable section of the exhibition to be made of ancient Italian art work.

The German government is willing to loan a magnificent collection of its works of art to the World's Fair, but the loan of such articles must be from the German government to the government of the United States. The German government proposes to deliver every article to the United States consul-general in Berlin as the official representative of this government, and will look to it for the careful transportation, safe protection and certain return of every such article. It is believed that there will be no trouble in inducing the United States to comply with the condition specified.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, who lately gave his sanction to Sunday opening of picture galleries, has offered in convocation the petition of the Sunday society in favor of opening all public libraries and museums. The archbishop said that, while he would countenance no laxity in religious observance or approve of the amusement of the "leisured" classes adding to the toil of others on Sundays, yet the petition did not conflict with either of those principles. It was referred, on motion of the Bishop of London, to a joint committee of the two houses of Convocation.

A curious lawsuit is engaging the attention of the courts at Ecija, Spain. The suit is over the sum of 250,000 pesetas and a baby. A stranger some time ago handed the railroad station master a sealed letter and a heavy box. On opening the box he found a baby, and at once handed it over to a switchman and his wife. When the switchman's wife undressed the infant for bed she found rolled up in its clothing a quantity of bank notes, which, as the paper stated, were to be applied to the child's education. The station master demanded the return of the baby, but the switchman refused, holding that it was given him without reservation.

A novel wedding will be held the coming season in New York. It will be on the roof of a large apartment house. Great preparations are already begun, and no expense will be spared to make the affair elegant as well as unique. Beautiful rugs, hanging suspended by a framework covered with ivy, hanging lamps and everything that tends to give an Oriental look will be carried out. The roof will be strewn with roses, and the bride herself will wear an Egyptian gown. The almanac has been diligently consulted as to moonlight, starlight, etc., and as the bride-elect insists she was born under a lucky star, she is positive the evening will be propitious. In the alternative the roof will be covered over.

A RUSSIAN HERO.

It is scarcely known even in Paris that it was Commodore Skridloff who was selected to accompany Admiral Gervais at the time of the reception at Cronstadt, and consequently the high honor which Emperor Alexander paid to his French hosts by this selection remained almost a secret.

Nicolas Ilarionovitch Skridloff, now 48 years old, is on the point of becoming rear admiral. His past history is glorious. He wears upon his breast the cross of St. George, the highest order that can be conferred in Russia, for an act of daring bravery which signalized his debut in the war of 1877 between Russia and Turkey. The Russian army was preparing to cross the Danube on pontoons when two Turkish monitors appeared. Young Lieut. Skridloff was selected to oppose the advance of the Turkish vessels, with six sailors and his friend, the painter Verestchagin, who insisted upon going with him. Skridloff boarded the pleasure yacht of the late emperor, and prepared to put torpedoes under the monitors.

"Let us take a glass of sherry," said he to Verestchagin, when the yacht moved out; "it will doubtless be our last."

The Turks were astounded at the approach of the little craft, and sent a perfect shower of shot at it; but, fearing to be blown to pieces, they quickly steamed back, leaving the Russians to cross the river unmolested. The Schutka, having accomplished her mission, brought back Lieut. Skridloff with four serious wounds. He was the first man wounded in the campaign.

This act of bravery won for the young man a rapid promotion. In 1887 he was captain of the Strelok, a war ship of 1,500 tons. He was cruising in the Atlantic during the Afghanistan difficulty. It will be remembered that the Russian general Komaroff fortified the strategic line of the river Kouschka, thus threatening the English in India. A war rumor passed over Europe. The English government instructed its ambassador at St. Petersburg to obtain from the czar a refusal to sanction the action of Komaroff under penalty of a rupture of all amicable negotiations. Alexander III. was not intimidated and his bold reply was that Komaroff had acted under his orders. Everybody expected a declaration of war. Charged with a secret mission for the United States, Skridloff was followed by an English vessel of a tonnage double the size of that of his cruiser, and the big Britisher was commanded by Capt. Hand.

When anchored in the harbor of Newport, Skridloff resolved to escape from the Englishman, and this was the way he managed it. It was Saturday, and a performance was to take place at the theater in the evening. In the afternoon Skridloff ordered all the linen of the sailors to be hung out on the yardarms, as is the custom on wash days. He himself went ashore and proceeded to the theater, accompanied by a number of his officers. At the close of the performance he invited the actresses and Capt. Hand to supper. The invitation was accepted. Toward midnight, leaving his cap and parade sabre in view, he made an excuse for a temporary absence from the dining room. But he didn't come back. He quickly boarded his vessel, weighed anchor and escaped, and Capt. Hand was afterward court-martialled.

During this same cruise the Strelok put into San Domingo, where Capt. Skridloff sent two officers ashore to get news from the continent. The Haytians, doubtless under the advice of the English consul, arrested the Russian officers. After several hours of waiting the captain went ashore himself and demanded the immediate release of his officers as well as a written apology duly signed; otherwise he would have the place bombarded at once. In order to have no mistake about the thing, he had given orders to his second officer to open fire at a signal from his hand. The Haytians yielded, and Skridloff recorded the document in which these facts were related at the English consulate.

At present Nicolas Skridloff is in Paris. He is a sturdy sailor of colossal stature, with broad shoulders and immense chest. His face is of the purest Russian type, with a pleasant expression. He has a short blond beard. In a French that many Parisians might well envy, he speaks of the marvels of the great city, with which he is charmed beyond measure.—Figaro.

A WONDERFUL MACHINE.

There is no doubt that man is a fine mechanism, but like every other machine he wears out by friction. It is said that he is born again every two or three years. His body is virtually re-made from food. To retard this making over is radically wrong, as a man loses so much vitality in the delayed process that it takes a long time to recuperate. The process of making anew is so accelerated by purging with Brandreth's Pills that a new man, as it were, may be made in two or three months, and the change in the mechanism is such that the worn out part is replaced by the new without the usual running down of the entire machine. You don't have to stop for repairs. Purge away with Brandreth's Pills the old, diseased and worn out body. They are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

AN INJUSTICE TO THE NEGRO.

Paragraphers Should Drop the Chicken Joke—The Place Held by the Pullet Ought to be Given to the Watermelon.

"You people in the north, with all your professed affection for the nigger, do him an injustice in at least one particular," said Col. John Adams, of Alpharetta, Ga., to a Chicago Mail reporter.

"Why is it that the darkey always is pictured in the press as an inveterate chicken thief? I suppose that is a newspaper tradition, like the mother-in-law and the goat joke; but it isn't founded on fact. Mind you, I don't say that our colored brother will not steal, but I am sure he has no especial liking for chickens, and a henroost has no unconquerable attraction for him.

"Why not drop the chicken joke now and substitute the watermelon instead? The watermelon really deserves the place in literature now held by the pullet. No darkey can resist the temptation to eat a tunnel through one of your Georgia 'sugar hearts' whenever he gets a chance.

"Last year I became aware that many of my melons were being stolen, and determined to put a stop to it if possible. So I called in Uncle Mose, one of the old standbys of the neighborhood, and said to him: 'Uncle Mose, do you like watermelons?'

"'Yis, sar; yis, sar,' he replied.

"'Well, Mose, you know I've 40 acres in my melon patch this year.'

"'Yis, sar.'

"'Now suppose some of those lowdown, common niggers should take a notion to steal my melons and I should object to it and should fill a few of those melons with poison—strychnine or arsenic or rough on rats—so that any nigger who took a mouthful would drop right in his tracks—what I want to know is this: Do you suppose you could tell by the feel of one of those poisoned melons in the patch at night that it had been tampered with?'

"'I?'

"'Well, yes—you. Do you think you could tell any difference between the poisoned melons and those that were all right?'

"'Why do you ask me dat fool question? I wouldn't be in your patch nohow. P'isoned milyuns wouldn't 'fect me 'cause I wouldn't be dar.'

"'But suppose you were there?'

"'No use 'sposin' anything when I knows all erbout it, I tell yo'. I jest wouldn't be dar, dats all. I'd send my boy, Sam.'"

Happy days and restful nights result from using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It so regulates all the bodily functions and strengthens the nervous system that worry and fatigue are comparatively unknown and life is truly enjoyed. It is certainly a most wonderful medicine.

THEY COO AND CHUCKLE.

While Cholera Infantum Begins to Rage.

Happy Homes Where Lactated Food is Always at Hand.

Physicians Recommend Its Use at This Dangerous Season.

A great deal is being said and written about that splendid nourishment for infants, lactated food.

Physicians prescribe it.

Mothers recommend it to mothers.

Babies coo and chuckle and live to grow healthy and strong upon it.

And it is now the food of foods for many a happy family. It is not a panacea, but when one knows that nine-tenths of the babies that die owe their taking off to improper nourishment, and when in June, July and August of every year cholera infantum results in as many deaths as in all the rest of the year together from this and similar causes, it is apparent how necessary lactated food becomes.

For the physicians say that cholera infantum is a result of that state of things which follows improper feeding.

Colic is one of the symptoms of indigestion that shows that the little one is ready to fall a victim to the dreaded cholera infantum. The beautiful child whose face is shown herewith, has a wise mother whose experience she desires published for the benefit of other mothers. She says, "The first two months of my baby's life the little one was badly troubled with colic, but then we began feeding her lactated food and she has been well ever since.

Baby Libby.

"The child is just what her picture shows her to be, a healthy, happy baby."

Weak and debilitated children are the first to succumb to cholera infantum, and hot weather develops this dangeroue trouble rapidly among the little ones who appeared so well a short time before.

As a matter of precaution, if nothing else, mothers should procure the lactated food and use it. It is not expensive, and is so absolutely pure that it affords the best substitute for healthy mother's milk.

Thousands of mothers know by experience that lactated food surely prevents cholera infantum and other summer disorders of a like character, and it hundreds of cases it has cured the severest attacks of this disease.

But the disease can be more easily prevented than cured. simply feed the baby with pure food—lactated.

COUNCIL COMMITTEES.

The Ways and Means Discuss Financial Matters

And Law Suits—Several Important Improvements Passed Upon and Approved.

The council committee on ways and means met in the city auditor's office last evening and disposed of several matters involving city finances.

The proposition from the cities of Fort Wayne and Evansville asking Toledo to join with them in fighting suits brought by the company manufacturing the Bragg patent device for opening the doors of engine houses in case of fire. As Toledo has not yet been sued, the committee declined to entertain the proposition.

A statement of $16,000 assessments in arrears on city property was presented by Treasurer Hunter, and the committee referred it to the city engineer for verification of the figures.

In the matter of old Junction avenue certificates of indebtedness to the amount of $12,441.62, the committee decided to issue new ones payable in three years with interest at 5 per cent. It was also decided to issue certificates of indebtedness to the amount of $7,193.44 to pay for electric light assessments that have been abated.

The street committee spent considerable time discussing the ordinance to open Parkwood avenue from Virginia street to Delaware avenue. A few of the property owners along the street were present and spoke both for and against it. The matter was laid over for two weeks.

A resolution to remove the house of an alleged squatter in the alley north of Bloomfield also caused some discussion and was approved by a vote of 5 to 4.

Resolutions were approved to pave Western avenue, Hawley to Wayne street; to pave Swan lane, Cherry to Elm; to pave Nebraska avenue, Hawley to Hoag street and from Hoag street to Junction avenue; to grade East Woodruff avenue, Canton avenue to Cherry street; to pave Curtis street, Lenk street to Western avenue, and to turnpike Licking street, Starr avenue to the Port Clinton turnpike.

The contract for paving Fourteenth street from Monroe to Jefferson, with firebrick, was awarded to William McMahon.

Ordinances were approved to macadamize Spellbusch avenue, Cherry to the alley between John and State streets; to establish the grade of Walnut street from Frederick to Delaware avenue; to open Yates street from Chestnut to Elm: to pave Bancroft street, Lagrange to Elm; to turnpike Lane avenue, Smead avenue to Sylvan avenue; to pave Washington street, Collingwood to Lawrence avenue; to pave Front street, Oak street to Cornwall's addition.

TWO REFORMED SMOKERS.

Two men, both smoking stumps of cigars, met this morning.

"I am smoking too much," one of them said, "and I believe you are. Let's quit."

They agreed to it, and threw away their stumps. Then they talked a long time about being men, and how they intended to break away from the habit that was ruining their health and costing so much money. Then they got to talking about other matters, and finally one of them said:

"Have a cigar?"

The men moved toward a cigar store, selected and lit a cigar, and then the reformers went their different ways, smoking, entirely forgetting their resolve to reform.—Atchison Daily Globe.

HEADED FOR HOME.

Fourteen Hundred Oberlin College Youths

On Vacation—Railroad Passenger Agents Competing for Business—Amusing Contrivances to Attract Trade—Notes and Notices.

Oberlin, June 24.—(Special)—The spring term and of the year of Oberlin college, is closed. The last college yell broke the stillness of a cloudy night, and the noted glee club sang the farewell melodies in open air to a crowd of admiring friends. To satisfactorily send 1,400 students to their respective homes is no little job; to supply this number with tickets, check the baggage from their rooms to destination; give them memorandums of connecting lines; answer a hundred different questions necessitated the presence here of the most classical and educated force of the various passenger departments of the connecting lines of the Lake Shore road.

Among this array of talent, of our western representatives, we have had the tall and graceful F. N. Snavely, of the C. & N. W. R. R.; the round and plump Bob Smith, C., B. & Q.; the tidy and aesthetic T. J. Clark, C., R. I. & P.; the polite Fred Boyd, of the Clover Leaf, whose wash line stories had telling effect; Capt. A. G. Shearman, Union Pacific, whose smiling features indicated he has cash for the needy; Toledo's favorite, Joe Granger, of the Maple Leaf route, his dark, penetrating, sympathetic eyes centering on Mansfield, O. Letters of sympathy and condolence were received from eastern representatives, and circular attention called to various Chicago lines whose traveling men were otherwise engaged. This distinguished force opened an office in the rear of Oberlin's good-natured mayor's book store. Having a window facing a prominent thoroughfare with a roomy platform, these representatives began to place on exhibition the various products as collected from romantic dells, glens and cities of the west best showing the inducements of their respective lines. Snavely had a rusty hatchet with "These grow wild along the Northwestern." A nail puller "Used by the Sioux to pull teeth." Granger, a bottle of mucilage, "Headache cure with each ticket." "Go once and you will always stick to this line." Bob McC. Smith, the artist, displayed wonderful ability in preparing a necklace made with heavy cord with eight-penny nails attached and an ancient lock in the center, "This necklace and lock it was worn by Chief Sitting Bull as a remembrance of the Q line." A pile of dry grass was placed near the sidewalk with this sign over it: "Keep off the grass. This was gathered from the open prairie in sight of the Rock Island route. New mown hay is made from this." A clothes line stretched across the room had this, "No flies on this line—Boyd, of the Clover Leaf." A red brick bat was labeled, "Iron ore from the Union Pacific—to travel by it consult Shearman." A cigar stump had this sign, "Sample of heavy timber along the Wabash—Philip E. Dombaugh, director."

New additions were being constantly added upon the arrival of every train. As they were closing the office at midnight a load of stone was received from A. G. Robinson, samples of "road bed of the Alton line." It is needless to say this varied collection attracted the crowd, but led the way to a series of questions touching the west that was foreign to the representatives' business.

It is often said college boys are full of spasmodic fun and enjoy life as it is, but a ticket office full of traveling men representing the trunk lines of our country cannot be equalled; always good-natured, thoroughly posted, not only about his own route, but knows all the weak points about his competing lines; familiar with changes of connecting roads; knows how to figure the lowest rate and to make friends wherever he goes. We doubt if there is any other class of business with stronger and apparent more competition and where more forcible language is used, showing the advantages of routes, than in the passenger department of our railroads—and yet where among any kind of business—in this wonderful competitive age, can the public find a sight equal to this—on a bench, side by side, hour after hour, sat these representatives of the greatest railroad systems of the world, each waiting his turn to be called upon by the gentlemanly ticket agents, to explain the connections, secure sleeping car services, tickets and complete arrangements for a journey perhaps across the continent, each one representing equally as strong a line, and ready connections. Patient and perfect gentlemen in everything they do and say, yet all eager to get the business. This is competition deserving of notice and imitation. Without a single exception Oberlin students are prompt in their engagements, pleasing and polite conversationalists and while the writer has been surrounded by several hundred young ladies and gentlemen at one time all anxious to take the first train for their homes, we fail to recall a single instance where a harsh or hasty word was spoken. In the face of the fact that railroad men are considered often cold and heartless, toward the public, this is a great statement and speaks well for the management of Oberlin college. As evidence that they appreciate the labors of the traveling men, the serenade tendered them by the students was greatly appreciated. Considering the fact that all students want to "run home" as soon as school is dismissed and are up to the times in selecting the fastest trains the passenger department of the Lake Shore road is highly praised not only for the unequalled equipment, neat, new, clean coaches, gentlemanly conductors, but in being represented in the person of the venerable John L. Freeman, who was on the field through the heated term, lending his valuable aid and assistance. There are but few roads represented by high officials in person on the premises where it is necessary to send away great crowds and the Lake Shore is highly commended for this forehtought. Officials with authority on the ground saves hours of anxiety and sends many a passenger on his way rejoicing.

OBERLIN NOTES.

The college has 74 professors and teachers.

Oberlin has an actual population of 5,000.

There are 72 graduates this year, all living in different parts of the world.

There are sixteen substantial buildings belonging to the college costing from $3,000 to $125,000 each.

Total number of students enrolled 1,462, of this number 22 are from Toledo or immediate vicinity.

There are but few students who remain at Oberlin during the summer vacation, which lasts until September 20.

If the town would take greater interest in improving the principal streets Oberlin college would get rid of its worst name.

George Bennet Siddall, who has smiled over the hotel counter at Lake Side and well known to many Toledo ladies, will be found hereafter in the treasurer's office of the college.

The college trustees at their meeting last night did away with the preparatory department, and substituting in its place a department to be known as the Oberlin academy.

The famous Oberlin Glee club, familiar to Toledo admirers of sweet singing—owing to some of the members graduating and leaving the college forever, will at once reorganized and their route this fall extends through some of the western states.

The traveling passenger men representing all lines are deeply indebted to Mr. J. T. Ellis and W. J. R. Johnston, of Oberlin, for many personal favors for the liberal manner in so impartially dividing the western business. They understand their business thoroughly.

We doubt if there is a college in the land where so strong an interest is taken in the affairs of students as here. While to the general traveling public the town seems uninteresting, and the inhabitants take no interest in whist or euchre parties—the faculty certainly understands the importance of keeping the students away from social vices and not to spend money unnecessarily.

His honor, A. G. Comings, mayor of Oberlin, speaking of the peculiar condition of the streets said, "The work has not always been well directed. There have been too frequent changing of plans and too little intelligent supervision of the work. With our streets surveyed and monuments placed many wrongs can be righted, and the labor of the future will be much easier."

AT SARATOGA.

Doctor (to Invalid)—The nature of your disease demands that you follow my directions implicitly.

Invalid—I will endeavor to do so.

"In the first place you must take the Hawthorne water three or four times a day. After each glass you must walk. Exercise is indispensable in your case."

"I will do as you say."

"You must be moderate in everything, particularly in smoking. One cigar after each meal, no more. Call again to-morrow and report progress."

"Next day the patient reported. He looked like a very sick man.

"How are you coming on?"

"Poorly, doctor."

"What's the matter?"

"I'm deathly sick at my stomach."

"That's very strange."

"You see I am following your directions and am smoking one cigar after dinner, and as this is the first time I ever smoked I'm not feeling well."—Texas Siftings.

Reliable experts claim this is to-day the richest camp in Colorado. Assays average $100 per ton, and have run as high as $5,000. One hundred people a day are now rushing to Fremont, chief town of the district.

The chance of a life-time is worth looking after!

You can get there quickly and comfortably by taking Santa Fe Route. Only line with no change of cars from Chicago, Kansas City and other principal cities to Florissant, nearest railroad station, with daily stages to Fremont.

MARKETS OF THE WORLD

Weekly Reports Not Unfavorable to Crops.

Corn Reported to be Humping Itself.

Quotations from all the Trading Points of the Globe—Comment on the Grain situation.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 327,491 bu. and at four other western points, 211,392 bu., aggregate 588,883 bu. At same points in 1891, same Friday, 158,797 bu.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were, wheat, 299,078 bu. and flour to an aggregate of 600,000 bu. Export of corn, 119,534 bu. English markets are dull and lower for wheat and corn.

Wheat in the Northwest.

Nature has smiled on the wheat crop in the northwest, and since sowing was completed, although it was late, the plant has grown apace, and is reported to be in nearly as forward condition as average.

Winter Wheat.

Over the winter wheat belt the rains continue, and the conditions presented are beginning to be serious. Considerable vicinages in the southwest are ready for the harvest, and soon the whole field will be ripe, but if rains continue and the fields are a sea of wind, they cannot be cut.

Government Weekly Report.

The weekly agricultural report is not unfavorable to wheat or corn. In the great grain growing states there is too much wet, but the reports of damage are unimportant. Corn is humping itself in a remarkable manner, and will do its level best to produce a crop on the limited acreage. The wet weather, however, is very unfavorable to the condition of the remaining old corn. Those who have corn in cribs will consult their interests by retaining it there. It is one of the seasons when corn easily becomes hot, and the result is an over-supply, and low price for the lower grades.

The Markets To-Day.

There is no basis for new comments on the situation. While the bears insist that stocks are large here and abroad and soon to be supplemented by new wheat, the bulls are talking about the uncertainty of our crop in a wet harvest, and that crops abroad are by no means safe from vicissitude yet. One thing is sure; if we are to have a wet harvest the value of the new wheat will be quite below that of the old. We have seen that difference in favor of old wheat 10c per bu. Short sellers want to go slow on a wet harvest.

Wheat and corn have not fluctuated much to-day, and there has been but little occasion for it in any new statement of conditions.

Foreign Markets.—English, French and Belgium are reported closing lower.

In New York June and July wheat closed 1-4c lower; June and July corn 1-4c lower; June oats, 1-4c up.

In Chicago July wheat closed steady; July corn 1-8c lower; July oats 1-8c up.

In Toledo—The business on 'change was light, even lighter than usual. We can add nothing to what is written above as to provocations for trading. It is a waiting and dull market, and if ever we get dry weather over the wheat belt, prices may break off, low as they are. There is no speculative force or vim in the deal.

Prices have averaged lower than yesterday, and June wheat closed 1-4c, July 3-8c and August 1-4c below yesterday. June sold at 86c and closed at 85 1-2c bid; July sold at 82 3-4c and closed at 1-4c; August sold at 81 5-8c and closed at 3-8c; September sold at 81 7-8c.

Savannah, June 24.—Steady at 28c.

Dry Goods.

New York, June 24.—Business in dry goods at first hands was very fair in cotton goods and clothing woolens. Prints and ginghams were active in some quarters. Staple cottons were selling in good-sized blocks with leading houses, but bleached goods lately advanced, were quiet, because of the limit of business on orders. The market was steady to strong in tone. The new clothing woolen season is getting started earlier than anticipated, but it is not likely that the market generally will open until next month. Duplicate trade is good and agents are feeling comfortably as to the outlook.

Wool.

London, June 24.—At the wool sales today 15,229 bales of good quality were offered. There was a large attendance and the bidding was animated. The best merinos and cross-breds advanced 5 per cent. American and German buyers purchased the combing and good greasy, while home buyers took large quantities of New Zealand wools. Following are the sales to-day in detail and the prices obtained: New South Wales, sales 3,100 bales —scoured at 8 1-2d@1s 5d, do locks and pieces at 5@11d, greasy at 5@10 1-2d, do locks and pieces at 4@9d. Queensland, sales 1,600 bales—scoured at 9 1-2@1s 2d, do locks and pieces at 8d@1s 1d, geasy at 6 1-4@11d, do locks and pieces at 6 1-4@7d. Melbourne and Victoria, sales 2,100 bales—scoured at 9d@1s 5 1-2d, do locks and pieces at 9 1-4d@1s 1 1-2d, greasy at 7 1-4@1s 1-2d, do locks and pieces at 3 1-4@9d. New Zealand, sales 7,300 bales —scoured at 8d@1s 4 1-2d, do locks and pieces at 6 3-4d@1s 3 1-2d, greasy at 5d @1s 1-2d, do locks and pieces at 2@10 1-2d. Cape of Good Hope and Natal, sales 900 bales—scoured at 1s@1s 3 1-2d, greasy at 4 1-2@7 1-2d.

A circular issued by Jacomb Son & Co., wool brokers, says: The offerings of short, poor, faulty and poor merinos have been large and have not been eagerly sought. The rates are hardly equal to those current at the close of April. The better super greasy is well supported and prices are frequently slightly improved in the face of large supplies. Cross-breds are in demand and prices exceed expectations.

TWENTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE.

C. D. Fredericks, the well-known photographer, 770 Broadway, New York, says: "I have been using Allcock's Porous Plasters for 20 years, and found them one of the best of family medicines. Briefly summing up my experience, I say that when placed on the small of the back Allcock's Plasters fill the body with nervous energy, and thus cure fatigue, brain exhaustion, debility and kidney difficulties. For women and children I have found them invaluable. They never irritate the skin or cause the slightest pain, but cure sore throat, coughs, colds, pains in side, back or chest, indigestion and bowel complaint."

Magnificent assortment new fireworks, especially for private displays, now on sale at the New York Fireworks store, St. Clair street between Madison and Jefferson.

A Patient Assaults a Hospital Nurse.

An Italian Plunges a Knife Into the Back of Sister Hilderberta.

Reading, Pa., June 24.—Sister Hilderberta, a beautiful young girl of 20, who is attached to St. Joseph's hospital, a Catholic institution of prominence in this city, was murderously assaulted yesterday afternoon by Pedro Buecherri, an Italian shoemaker, who has been a patient at the hospital for several months.

Sister Hilderberta was his nurse, and just after leaving the ward in which the Italian was confined, she was attacked by Buecherri, who had followed her.

He had a knife which he plunged in the sister's back and breast several times. Attendants and others who saw the attack overpowered him, but only after he had inflicted probably fatal injuries.

His only reason for assaulting the sister was that she did not like him. Many threats of lynching were made just after the assassin was arrested and he was hurried to jail.

WHITEHOUSE NOTES.

Whitehouse, O., June 24.—(Special)—General satisfaction was expressed here by the democrats over the nomination of Cleveland.

The strawberry crop has been all sold.

There will be a good supply of whortleberries and black and red raspberries.

Wheat does not promise half a crop. The farmers are struggling to raise something to eat.

A MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

If Women Were Left-Handed They Could Alight Better from Street Cars

She half rose from her seat, glanced toward the rear of the open car, and, raising her parasol, signalled to the conductor on the rear platform that she desired to have the car stopped at the next corner. As it slowed, she stood up and stepped to the side, shifting her parasol from the right hand to the left and grasping the arm of the seat with the disengaged right.

"Wait till the car stops, please," the conductor shouted.

She glanced up with a slight expression of fright, and the conductor ran along the footboard at the side to assist her, but she did wait for him. She stepped down while the car was in motion, and when the car stopped with a slight jerk she had her left foot on the pavement. She had kept hold of the arm and was about to release it and put down the other foot, while facing to the rear, when the jerk threw her off her balance. The conductor grasped her arm and prevented her from falling. She smiled her thanks and stepped away. The conductor blew his whistle and started to return to the platform.

"There's another," he remarked to a serene and observant individual at the end of the next seat. "A woman never gets off a car while facing the right way; at least I've never seen one. If she'll wait till the car stops it's all right; if not it's all wrong."

"Isn't her fault," the individual remarked.

"Huh!"

"No. It's the fault of the car, or the company, I mean."

"Huh!"

"Of course. I'm not saying a word about grasping corporations or anything of the like, but I say it's the fault of the company."

"I'd like to know how," the conductor said, suggestively. "We do everything we can to help them."

"That may be so, but the company ought to change the direction of its lines or start a movement for the development of ambidexterity," the philosopher remarked.

"What?"

"Ambidexterity—ability to use both hands," the philosopher explained. "The trouble is that most people can use the right hand only in grasping anything, with confidence in the effort—women particularly. In this country the cars pass to the right, and as it is safer to alight from the side nearer the sidewalk, it is very natural for a woman to grasp the arm of the seat, or the side of the rear platform of a closed car, before stepping down. Now, if the cars ran the other way, to the left, women would get off from the other side and would use their right hands. If a woman gets off now at the side near the track she uses her right hand, and is not pitched backward. You watch the next time. If women were left-handed, the present system would be all right, but they are not."

"I never thought of that," the conductor said. "It has always been a mystery to me."

"Do you think they'll change?" the philosopher asked.

"Who?"

"The company."

"No, nor the women, either."—N. Y. Sun.
